BACKGROUND

The review of Winterbourne and the reports of the Mid Staffordshire Inquiry both highlighted the importance of clear and honest communications with families and the involvement of family carers and friends in order to improve and maintain the quality of care and support to vulnerable people.

The 2011 Census⁶ found that 5.4 million people in England were providing unpaid care with over a third providing 20 or more hours care a week, an increase of 5% on 2001 figures.

It is clear from the Census that the general health of carers deteriorates incrementally with the increasing hours of care provided. 5.2% of carers reported their own health as 'not good' and this rose to almost 16% among those caring for more than 50 hours a week.

Why we are here.

We met as members of the Carer's Council's Northern Group keen to work together. We represented small carer groups and campaigners living in North Norfolk.

It is vitally important to us that we continue to gather information about carers' experiences and to seek their views on how support can be improved for them and the people they care for and that we engage our community.
